Course Description:

Do you know what Forensic Engineering is? Do you know how to recognize the flaws in your facility construction and what you can expect and should protect against? Join us as Brian Tarantino shares his 25 years of experience in building design and investigation of building and site structural failures. He will describe new and antiquated building systems and their distinct features. The presentation will alert you to what your particular structure may be susceptible to as it ages in place and will provide maintenance suggestions to prolong the life of your buildings and site structures.

Presented by:

Brian Tarantino, P.E., LEED AP
President
Tarantino Engineering Consultants (TEC)

Brian Tarantino, P.E., LEED AP is president of Tarantino Engineering Consultants (TEC) a structural engineering firm located in Fulton, MD, providing building design and forensic engineering up and down the east coast. With more than 25 years of providing structural expertise to some of the most highly-regarded firms in the country, Brian launched TEC in 2013 to provide clients with quality deliverables in a collaborative manner. His range of experience allows him to bring unique solutions to every project with which he engages, and his personable style has clients returning again and again.

IFMA’s Certified Facility Manager® (CFM®) Credential Receives ANSI National Accreditation Board (ANAB) Accreditation

The ANSI National Accreditation Board (ANAB) recently granted initial accreditation for IFMA’s Certified Facility Manager® (CFM®) credential, under the ISO/IEC 17024:2012 standard.

IFMA’s CFM credential sets the industry standard for ensuring the knowledge and competence of practicing facility managers (FMs). The certification process assesses competency in the field through work experience, education and the ability to pass a comprehensive exam that covers the 11 competencies that compose the facility management body of knowledge.
Accreditation provides assurance to customers that the IFMA Certification Commission operates according to internationally accepted criteria. ISO/IEC 17024:2012: Conformity assessment – General requirements for bodies operating certification of persons is an international standard that specifies criteria for the operation of a Personnel Certification Body, including requirements for the development and maintenance of the certification.

“IFMA’s CFM program was the first, and remains the only, globally respected certification in facility management,” said IFMA President and COO Don Gilpin. “Because ANSI accreditation is internationally recognized as a mark of quality, it offers CFMs and their employers elevated assurance that IFMA’s certification meets the highest industry standards. It takes the CFM to a whole new level in validating professional excellence.”

The CFM program joins two other ANSI-accredited IFMA credential programs: Facility Management Professional™ (FMP®) and Sustainability Facility Professional® (SFP®). IFMA is accredited by ANSI (accreditation #1057) under ANSI/ASTM E2659-09 to issue the FMP and SFP certificates to those successfully completing the programs.

“IFMA’s Certification Commission has been working diligently toward achieving this accreditation,” said Dean Hitchcock, Chairman of the Certification Commission. “The Commission would like to extend their appreciation to the IFMA global board of directors for their leadership and commitment in supporting this critical strategic initiative.”

This significant milestone represents years of dedicated work by both professional staff and members and reflects IFMA’s continued focus on our strategic initiative to advance the FM profession,” noted Gilpin. “Individuals who earn the CFM join an elite group of global peers who demonstrate the highest degree of commitment to the industry. We are proud to be a part of their professional achievement.”

After weighing multiple options and reviewing feedback from surveyed past attendees, IFMA is proceeding with this year’s World Workplace as a live event, with a change in dates and location. For the safety and peace of mind of all attendees, World Workplace will be self-contained in one facility, with no overlap from other conferences.
Previously scheduled for Sept. 30-Oct. 2, 2020, in Chicago, Illinois, USA, World Workplace will now take place Dec. 9-11, 2020, at the Gaylord Texan Resort Hotel & Convention Center, located between Dallas and Fort Worth (less than a 10-minute drive from DFW International Airport) in historic Grapevine, Texas, USA.

IFMA’s Health and Safety Protocol Task Force has been working to ensure that World Workplace is a model of excellence in providing a safe environment for gathering. The Gaylord Texan has 200+ cleaning protocols throughout every physical space in the hotel. The resort’s multi-pronged approach to the health and safety of guests and staff will be combined with IFMA’s on-site event protocols, including:

- Mandatory temperature scans
- Required masks
- Social distancing practices
- On-site medical assistance

Early-bird registration, which saves attendees US$100, will be extended to Sept. 18, 2020. IFMA’s cancellation policy has been updated to state that attendees who need to cancel their registration for any reason can receive a 100% refund before Oct. 12, 2020. After this date, you have the option to either transfer registration to World Workplace 2021 or to a colleague.

Our community values time together to network and learn, and IFMA is committed to safely and responsibly facilitating conversations and essential training to help FMs navigate the challenges presented by the pandemic and other factors impacting the industry. For programming details, health and safety protocols, speaker and venue information, and online registration, please visit the event website at worldworkplace.ifma.org
